কল্পতরু ধর্মীয় বই পিডিএফ প্রকল্প

কল্পতরু মূলত একটি বৌদ্ধধর্মীয় প্রকাশনা প্রতিষ্ঠান। ২০১৩ সালে “হৃদয়ের দরজা খুলে দিন” বইটি প্রকাশের মধ্য দিয়ে এর যাত্রা শুরু।

কল্পতরু ইতিমধ্যে অনেক মূল্যবান ধর্মীয় বই প্রকাশ করেছে। ভবিষ্যতেও এ ধারা অব্যাহত থাকবে। কল্পতরু প্রতিষ্ঠার বছর খানেক পর “kalpataruboi.org” নামে একটি অবাণিজ্যিক ডাউনলোডিং ওয়েবসাইট চালু করে। এতে মূল ত্রিপিটকসহ অনেক মূল্যবান বৌদ্ধধর্মীয় বই pdf আকারে দেওয়া হয়েছে। সামনের দিনগুলোতে ক্রমান্বয়ে আরো অনেক ধর্মীয় বই pdf আকারে উক্ত ওয়েবসাইটে দেওয়া হবে। যেকোনো এখান থেকে একদম বিনামূল্যে অনেক মূল্যবান ধর্মীয় বই সহজেই ডাউনলোড করতে পারেন। আমাদের একমাত্র উদ্দেশ্য হচ্ছে, বর্তমান আধুনিক প্রযুক্তির যুগে লাখো মানুষের হাতের কাছে নানা ধরনের ধর্মীয় বই পৌঁছে দেওয়া এবং ধর্মজ্ঞান অর্জনে যতটা সম্ভব সহায়তা করা। এতে যদি মুক্তিকামী মানুষের কিছুটা হলেও সহায় ও উপকার হয় তবেই আমাদের সমস্ত শ্রম ও অর্থব্যয় সার্থক হবে।

আসুন ধর্মীয় বই পড়ুন, ধর্মজ্ঞান অর্জন করুন!

FOREWORD

Words are powerful vehicles of thought and expression. The ability to understand or converse in a language other than one's own is an enriching experience. Therefore, the attempt on the part of Shri Pulin Bayan Chakma, Chief Executive Member, Chakma Autonomous District Council to bring out the Chakma-English Dictionary deserves appreciation. I wish him the best.

INTRODUCTION

It is a known fact that all nations have their own language, culture and literature. The nations who have enriched their culture and literature are the most powerful and advanced and shined in the world history.

To form a tribe or nation one must possess a separate identity from others with distinct culture and language. The Mongoloid Chakma tribe whose habitations are in the Chittagong Hill Tracts of Bangladesh (about 6 lakhs), the north-eastern Indian states like Mizoram (about one lakhs), Tripura (about 70 thousand), Assam (about 30 thousand), Arunachal Pradesh (about 70 thousand) and the Aracan Region of Burma (Myanmar) have a distinct culture, language and literature. Above it, they have also their own scripts.

The Chakma are proud of their scripts which has a unique distinction from other north eastern India tribes. Its style and form also varies from other scripts. However we cannot deny the influence of Brahmi as the Aracanese scripts which was adopted from Brahmi have much similarity with the Chakma scripts which yet found in several monastery of Aracan (Burma).

The followings are the Chakma Alphabets called "CHĀNGMĀ LEGHĀ AHRAG" which are used for recording the TALLIKS (jungle medicinal formula), MANTRAS and the traditional scriptures 'AGAR TARA', like :

They also used the following letters :

Their vowel scripts are as follows

They also used the sign 3 to form 'ai' or 'ei' But they do not have a consensus substitute of English 'O' Hence the letter 'O' and its sign varies from person to person. Some use the letters 3, 3, 3 as substitute for 'O' Considering the problem. Late Kista Chandra Dewan suggested 3 and 3 for the English 'O' & 'OU' and the Arts & Culture Department of the Chakma Autonomous District Council has decided to accept his suggestion as it is in confirmity with the Bengali and Burmese style.

There are also some joint consonant used in the Chakma scripts formed by putting one another or by a sign, like :

$m + \omega = \text{𑒓}$ $m + \text{𑒑} = \text{𑒒}$ $m + \text{𑒔} = \text{𑒕}$
 $\omega + o = \text{𑒖}$ $m + \text{𑒗} = \text{𑒘}$ $m + \text{𑒙} = \text{𑒚}$

It is to mention that the Chakma phonetic of the letter 𑒓 is not as KĀ but pronouced in a softer form in a special style which is known to Chakma only or who has fluently learnt the Chakma language. It is something like HKĀ but cannot be expressed here due to non availability of an English substitute. The letter 𑒔 is also not pronounced as KHĀ as in other Indian language but a HĀ and the letter 𑒗 is pronounced not a HĀ but as ĀH as in honour, in English. The letter 𑒗 is also used to form a deeper tone by putting below a consonent like—𑒗 (MHĀ), 𑒗 (NHĀ) 𑒗 (LHĀ).

The Chakma also have their own numerals but it is very rarely used as the general use of Bengali numerals have replaced it. They are like: 𑒛 𑒜 𑒝 𑒞 𑒟 𑒠 𑒡 𑒢 𑒣 𑒤

Since the Chakmas possess a distinct language and scripts and since they pride themselves for such possession, they cannot comply with the recent report of the LINGUISTIC SURVEY OF INDIA which indicated the Chakma Language as a sub-language of Bengali. Their argument against such remark is that, if for having similarity with the Bengali words and meanings, the Chakma language can be termed as a sub-language of Bengali but why have the Assamese and Oria language been not termed as a sub-language of Bengali. Further as the indigenous tribal people are universally accepted as the original people of the earth, the Bengali language may also be termed as a sub-language of Chakma for having such similarity.

The Government of India has granted some autonomy to some Chakma people of Mizoram (as only 25% of the Chakma population has been covered) in the form of the Chakma Autonomous District Council (CADC) under the sixth schedule to the Constitution of India for managing themselves and preservation of own identity. As a step forward for the preservation of their own identity and devolpment of Chakma culture, language and literature the CADC authority has keenly decided to introduce the Chakma Language and scripts in their primary schools. In this regards, the Arts & Culture department of the CADC has undertaken the task for the development of Chakma scripts and already made Chakma Matrices in 48 and 36 Points. A book is also being printed soon for adoption in the CADC primary schools. At the initial stage the Chakma language will be taught as third language in addition to Bengali and English.

With the same object to develop the Chakma language and literature, the Arts & Culture Department of CADC has sincerely taken the initiation to publish the Chakma to English Dictionary by Shri Pulin Bayan Chakma. It is a hard job on the part of the department or any individual to bring out a generally acceptable book like a dictionary at the first instance as it will contain many errors and omissions of useful words. Further since the Chakmas are scattered in many different regions they experienced different influences from different people on their culture and literature, like Bengali Muslim in Bangladesh, Hindu Bengalis in Tripura, Assamese and Bengali in Assam, Hindi and Assamese in Arunachal Pradesh, Lushai in Mizoram and Aracanese in Burma. The Aracanese Chakmas are now on the verge of assimilation as only the older people know the Chakma language and the younger people rather feel shy to disclose themselves as Chakma or to talk in Chakma. So to codify all the vocabularies used by the Chakmas of different region is not only a hard job but also impossible at the first instance. And hence, this Dictionary will contain many commissions and omissions. It is only aimed at making a base towards condensing all the words.

Therefore, the publisher welcomes all the readers and scholars to bring all the faults, omissions and commissions of this book to our notice so that it could be rectified in the next edition. Without the active co-operation of the readers and scholars the book will remain ever incomplete.

If this Dictionary brings any used to the readers our endeavour labour will be a grand success.

L. B. Chakma

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am glad to write this acknowledgement to Mr. Pulin Bayan Chakma's "CHAKMA DICTIONARY" published by the Arts & Culture Department of the Chakma Autonomous District Council. A Dictionary in Chakma to English has been the long felt need for the Chakmas to preserve and to propagate as well, the language which is almost losing its identity in the midst of its own people. Thus, this very Dictionary of Mr. Bayan Chakma appeared just at the right juncture to tackle the crisis. And I hope all his efforts toward the Dictionary would serve the purpose.

The words so included in the Dictionary are well explained in a very simple and lucid manner touching necessary grammatical pin points. This Dictionary, I hope, will be found helpful not only by the Chakma students but also by the readers who are much more interested to learn and speak the Chakma language.

P R E F A C E

This first edition of "CHAKMA DICTIONARY" a Chakma to English Dictionary has been brought out with a view to maintain rapport with the Chakma words in new and in yore and their necessity in our day to day life. A Dictionary plays an important role in the world of language today. But at the initial stage of its composition there is an arduous task for the author to trace out, collect and present all the words in one volume of this kind as the words in different languages are increasing day by day including the Chakma language. Besides, I have felt well while composing this edition that the vocabulary in the Chakma language is no way inferior to the vocabulary of other languages and the chain of its vocabularies is also longer one. Instead it has failed to produce a good literature yet. I, therefore, appeal to all Research Scholars and Writers to come forward with their new thought, idea and ideology to improve and enrich this language so that it can be given requisite place in this linguistic world as a living language.

If this edition even partly satisfy my readers, I wish to bring out a bigger volume of "Chakma to English" and "English to Chakma" Dictionary in future. Some of the Chakma words have got similarities with some words of other languages and specially with Assamese and Bengali. But it does not mean that the Chakma language has been originated from these languages. Till today, the origin of this language is not traced out since the style and pronunciation of this language is formed with its own separate identity. Hence, the pronunciation of a Chakma word is bit different from writing. So it has been explained comparing with the words of Bengali and English.

While composing this edition, I am greatly helped by the older people in regards collection of various words. A great amount of help is also taken from the "Chāngmā-Bānglā Kadhātārā" by Shri Nanadhan Chakma and the "Chāngmā Kadhābhāndāl" by Shri Chitta Ranjan Chakma. Virtually, I am indebted to their literary works.

My thanks are due to the officials of Arts & Culture Department, of the Chakma Autonomous District Council those who have taken all the necessary steps for publication of this Dictionary. It is due to their generous help and specially of Shri Indral Lal Chakma who copied out the manuscript etc. for whose sincere effort this edition has been brought out to the light of first publication.

At my first trial (as no one has ventured to publish a "Chakma to English Dictionary" though may have written this), I know, this remains an incomplete one containing many errors in it. But I do believe, this "trial and error method" of today will certainly pay me fruit tomorrow.

To conclude, I also express my gratitude to other officers and gentlemen of different walk of life who helped me in this regard in one way or another. I am extremely grateful to His Excellency the Governor of Mizoram and Honourable Nirupam Chakma, Minister of State of Mizoram, whose valuable FOREWORD and MESSAGE made me intensively inspiring to publish more Chakma literature and earned uncountable value of my first edition of the Chakma Dictionary. My thanks are also due to my publishers and Printers who have taken every effort to present this edition to the readers within the specified time.

Over and above, my thanks are due to my beloved wife Smt. Bijoy Lakshmi Chakma without whose co-operation and inspiration it could not be possible on my part to complete this work in time.

I hope, the readers of this edition of Chakma Dictionary "Chākṃā Kadhātārā" will find this book useful to them and send their valuable suggestions without any shadow of doubt for better improvement in the next editions of this Dictionary.
